

EVENT SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

$7,500 - While often used to symbolize fulfillment, gold is actually the color of wisdom, great value and divine principle – thus the origin of “the golden rule.” Ancients used gold to represent balance in all things.

$5,000 - From silver bells to the star over Bethlehem, the color silver is a symbol of announcement and proclamation. It heralds Christ’s real presence in our world.

$2,500 - The color of sea and sky, blue represents life itself. Artists often depict Mary wrapped in a blue garment, celebrating the life she nurtures not only through Christ, but also within each of us.

$1,000 - The color rose is used as an expression of emerging light. It is the color of promise, hope and gratitude. On the third Sunday of Advent, liturgical colors turn to rose in anticipation of light coming into the world.
